The abstract should be a single paragraph which summarises the content of the article. Any references in the abstract should be written out in full e.g. [Surname et al., Journal Title, 2000, 35, 3523].

The main text of the article¹ should appear here. Please note that communications do not have section headings.

Equations can be typeset inline e.g. $y = mx + c$ or displayed with and without numbers:

$$A = \pi r^2$$
$$\frac{y}{\epsilon x} r^2 = 2r \quad (1)$$

Graphics should be inserted on the page where they are first mentioned (unless they are equations, which appear in the flow of the text).²

Tables typeset in RSC house style do not include vertical lines. Table footnote symbols are lower-case italic letters and are typeset

^a Address, Address, Town, Country. Fax: XX XXXX XXXX; Tel: XX XXXX XXXX; E-mail: xxx@aaa.bbb.ccc

^b Address, Address, Town, Country.

[†] Electronic Supplementary Information (ESI) available: [details of any supplementary information available should be included here]. See DOI: 00.0000/00000000.

[‡] Additional footnotes to the title and authors can be included e.g. 'Present address:' or 'These authors contributed equally to this work' as above using the symbols: ‡, §, and ¶. Please place the appropriate symbol next to the author's name and include a `\footnotetext` entry in the the correct place in the list.

at the bottom of the table. Table captions do not end in a full point.^{3,4}

Adding notes to tables can be complicated. Perhaps the easiest method is to generate these manually.

You can also put lists into the text. You can have bulleted or numbered lists of almost any kind. The `mhchem` package can also be used so that formulae are easy to input: `\ce{H2SO4}` gives H₂SO₄.

The conclusions section should come at the end of article. For the reference section, the style file `rsc.bst` can be used to generate the correct reference style.[§]

Author Contributions

We strongly encourage authors to include author contributions and recommend using CRediT for standardised contribution descriptions. Please refer to our general author guidelines for more information about authorship.
